

JERSEY VILLAGE

POLICE RESERVES

IN THE LINE

OF DUTY

Reserve Officers are generally not content to play a passive role in life. Instead, they continue to devote more and more of their time and talents to the City of Jersey Villages. Perhaps one Reserve Officer said it best, "To be a reserve is to be twice a citizen – we volunteer to get involved."

Because Reserve Officers are effective spokespersons in their neighborhoods for the support of law enforcement, their presence in the Department provides full-time officers with more insight into all segments of the City's population. Our Department personnel who daily work with the reserves are continually impressed by the performance and dedication of its members.

One question most often asked is how do the Reserve Officers fit into the organization of the JVPD? Because of the standards, the selection process, and the training program for Reserve Officers, their acceptance by regular members of the Department has been extremely favorable. Some Patrol Officers even request to be assigned to work with a particular reserve officer.

With the value added assets of retired and broad based experienced officers, the Reserve Officers of the JVPD bring talent and dedication along with a new insight on service to the citizens of Jersey Village and the members of our department.

C.N. Wedemeyer, Jr. Chief of Police
